THE OLD BACHELOR.

BY JOSH BILLINGS.

A chronic old bachelor iz invariably of the neuter gender, I don't care how much he may offer tew bet it ain't so.

They are like dried apples on a string—want a good soaking before they will do to use.

I suppose there iz some of them who have a good excuse for their neuteriness; many of them are too stingy to marry. This iz one of the best excuses I kno ov, for a stingy ain't tew have a nice woman.

Some old bachelors git after a flirt, and can't travel as fast as she doz, and then concludes awl the female grupper are hard to ketch, and food for nothing when they are ketched.

A flirt is a rough thing to over-haul until the right dog gets after her, and then they are the easiest of awl to ketch, and ofteh make the very best ov wives.

When a flirt really falls in love she iz as powerless as a mown daizy.

Her impudence then changes into modesty, her cunning into sea, her spurs into a halter, her pruning hook into a cradle.

The best way to ketch a flirt is tew travel the other way from which they are going, or sit down on the ground and whistle a lively tune till the flirt comes around.

Old bachelors make the flirts, and then the flirts get more than even by making the old bachelors.

A majority of flirts git married finnally, for they have a great quantity of the most dainty titbits of woman's natur, alwuz have shrewdness to back their sweetness.

Flirts don't deal in poetry and water gruel; they hav got tew hav brains, or else somebody would trade them out of their capital at the first sweep.

Disappointed luv must of course be all on one side, and this ain't any more excuse fur being an old bachelor than it iz fur a man to quit all kinds of munual labor, jist out of spite, and jine a poorhouse bekase he can't lift a tun at a pop.

An old bachelor will brag about his freedom to you, his relief from anxiety, his independence. This iz a dead beat past resurrection, for every body knows there aint a more anxious dupe than he iz. All his dreams are charcoal sketches of boarding-school misses; he dresses, greases his hair, prints his grizzly mustache, cultivates bunyoas and corns, tew please his captainas, the wimmen, and only gets laffed at for his pains.

I tr.ed being an old bachelor till I waz about twenty years old, and came very near dieing a dozen times. I had more sharp pain in one year than I have had since, put ali in a heap. I was in a lively fever all the time.

There is only one person who has inhabited this world so far that I think could have been an old batches or and done the subject justice, and he was Adam; but I hold it is every man's duty to select a partner and keep the dance hot.

KOURTING IN THE SEASONS.

I love to kourt in winter,
The many gurls I no,
When awl outside is dryry
And kivered up with sno;

I love to kourt in winter,
Bekawse the ole folks dred
The cold and stormy weather,

And hurri oph to bed.

I love to kourt in spring time,
When awl is bright and gay,
When natur's niles so sweetly,
To chase the cold away;

I love to kourt in spring time,

Bekawse the gurls, you no;

They look so orful pretty

In dresses kut so lo.

I love to kourt in summer,
When awl things are in blume,
And yet I think that kourting
Will ever be my dumme;

For I have asked just twenty-one

Of awl the gurls I no,

To have me for their loving one,

And they have answered—No!

"BIGOTED."

Old Job Dundee was at one time one of the most popular darkies in our city. He was a kind of a patriarch among the colored population, and universally liked by the white folks. About the time that he stood at the head of the New street church he was subpoenaed before Squire (now Judge) Wiseman, to testify to the character of a negro who was charged with petty larceny.

"Well," Job, said the Squire, "what do you know of the character of the defendant?"

"Well, I knows considerable 'bout de colored individual and I never fin's him guilty of only one 'fence," replied Job with great reverence.

"Well, what is the nature of the offence you allude to?"

"Why, de nigger am bigoted."

"He's what?"

"Bigoted, bigoted—doesn't you know what bigoted am?"

"Why, no," replied the Squire, who is much of a wag. "Will you define the term, Job?"

"Sartainly, I does. To be bigoted, a colored pusson must know too much for one niggar, and not enough for two niggars."

Two young misses, discussing the qualities of some young gentlemen, were overheard thus: "Well, I like Charley, but he is a little girlish; he hasn't got the least bit of a beard."—"I say Charley has got a beard, but he shaves it off." "No, he hasn't either, any more than I have." "I say he has, too, and I know it, for it pricked my cheek." That's how she knew.

A servant, sweeping out a room, found a sixpence, which he carried to its owner. "You may keep it for your honesty," he said. Shortly after, he missed his gold pencil case, and inquired of the servant if he had seen it. "Yes, sir," was the reply. "And what did you do with it?"—"Kept it for my honesty sir!"

The young lady who took the eye of everybody, has been arrested for stealing.

MINE ADVERTISEMENT.

We clip from an old paper the following: Whether Mr. Pomderslunder ever found his 'large plack horse' we are unable to say, but one thing is certain 'he ort ter':

Rund away, or stolen, or was strayed; mine large plack horse, apout fourteen or fifteen hands high—he has got four plack legs—two pehine two before, and he is plack all o'er his poty but he has got some vite spots pon his pack, when the skin was rub off, but I greased dem, and de vite spots is all plack agin—he trots, he kanters, and paces and sometimes he walks, and ven he walks all his legs go on von after another—he has two ears pon his head both alike, but one is placker than toder—he has two eyes, von is put out, and toder ish pon de side of his head, and ven you go toder side he vont see you—and has a long dail vot grows down pehine, but I cut it short de toder day and now it is not so long vot it was—he is shood all round but his pehine shoes come off, and he has only cot shoes before—he holds up his head and looks skared, and when he has been frightened he joomps apout like every ting in de world—he vil ride mit a saddle or a shase, or he vil go mit himself vidout no pody mit a pag an a poy on it—he ish not very old, and his head ven he walks or runs keeps before, and his dail keeps pehine, only ven he gets mat and then his dail sometimes comes first.

Whoever vil bring him pack, shall pay me 5 tollar rewardt and if he brings pack de tief vot stole him, shall pay peside 20 tollar, and axe no questions.

STARKE POMSLANDER.

Geographical.—"John, where is Africa?"

"On the map, sir."

"I mean on what continent—the Eastern or the Western?"

"Well, the land of Africa is the Eastern Continent, but the people are all of 'em down South."

"How do the African people live?"

"By drawing."

"Drawing what—water?"

"No, sir, by drawing their breath."

"Sit down, John."

"Thomas, what is the equator?"

"Why, sir, it is a horizontal pole running perpendicularly through the imagination of astronomers and geographers."

"Go to your seat, Thomas."

"William Stiggs, what do you understand by an eclipse?"

"An old race horse, sir."

"Silence! Jack, you are a schotz ar; what is an eclipse?"

"An eclipse is a thing as appears when the moon gets on a bender and runs against the sun; consequently the sun blacks the moon's face."

Pedagogue looks amazed. Dismisses the class.

"A COFFIN," said an Irishman, "is the house a man lives in when he is dead."

STATE FAIR.

The Ninth Agricultural Fair of the North Carolina Agricultural Society, will take place in the city of Raleigh, on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next, the 19th, 20th, 21st and 22d instant. The railroads will pass all freight to and from the fair free of charge, and passengers at half price, and President Smith, of the North Carolina Railroad, will run a special train every day of the Fair, for the accommodation of visitors, which train will leave Goldsboro' at 5½ o'clock, A. M., and arrive at Raleigh at 8:35; returning leave Raleigh at 6:15 P. M., and arrive at Goldsboro' at 9:10 P. M.—This schedule will be very convenient for our citizens, and will, we think, secure a large attendance from this portion of the State. We are glad to know that the prospects for the success of the Fair are very flattering.

THE RAILROAD MEETING.—At a meeting of a number of the citizens of Goldsboro', held at the Court House, on Thursday evening last, for the purpose of taking into consideration the proposed Railroad connection to Snow Hill and Greenville, Mr. A. J. Finlayson was called to the chair, and J. A. Bonitz requested to act as Secretary.

On motion a committee of three was appointed to confer with the citizens of the place, with a view to ascertaining their feelings in regard to the movement.

On motion the meeting adjourned to meet this (Friday) evening, at 3 o'clock.

JOURNALISM.—Maj. W. A. Hearne will, we learn, resume the publication of the North Carolinian, at Tarboro', N. C., in a short time.

DISCONTINUED.—The Norfolk Evening Herald, Col. Pool's paper, has been discontinued.

ELECTIONS.—The Radicals carried the late elections in Pennsylvania and Ohio by large majorities. Indiana, Iowa and Nebraska have also, most likely, given Republican majorities.

FOR THE LADIES.—A novelty in silks is a new color recently imported for dinner dresses, called coral. It is very brilliant in gas light, resembling a delicate shade of flame color with light and dark flashes.—One peculiarity of this coral-tinted silk, commanding it to all, is that it becomes both the blonde and brunette, which can be said of very few colors. Only eight dollars a yard.

HOPE is the last lingering light of the human heart. It shines when every other is put out. Extinguish it and the gloom of affliction becomes the very blackness of darkness—cheerless and impenetrable.

STUBBS said to one of his debtors: "Isn't it about time that you paid me that little bill?" "My dear sir," was the consoling reply, "it is not a question of time, it is a question of money."

BUSINESS.

There is a good deal of talking here among brokers about a certain fast young youth whose father is overburdened with millions.

The young man would not work, and the old man could not bear an idler; and many were the quarrels between them.

At last the old man, quite out of patience said: "Now, Jack, I give you one week to make up your mind to what business you are to go in.—No son of mine shall be a lounging and go to work you shall? At the end of this week, if you have made no choice, I will stop your allowance altogether, and make you take a stool in my office, and work enough you'll live off it there."

"Well, Jack, promised to look around and make up his mind.

At the end of the week, sharp and peremptory, as was his way, the old broker sung out:

"Well, Jack, time's up; have you made up your mind to make your own living?

"Well, father, I've been thinking of it, and have something in my mind, but it will require considerable capital."

"Capital, Jack! capital, my boy!" said the delighted father. "Only try to make your own living, and I'll buy you a national bank, or a line of steamers! What is it Jack? What is it?"

"Well, father, I was thinking that if you would only advance me three or four hundred thousand dollars, I could invest them in government bonds, and make my living by cutting off the coupons!"

The old man shied an inkstand at Jack's head, but never talks to him any more about 'business'.—City Item.

A lawyer once came into court drunk; when the judge said to him, "Sir, I am sorry to see you in a situation which is a disgrace to yourself and family, the court, and the profession to which you belong." The reproof elicited the following colloquy: "Did your honor speak to me?" "I did, sir: I said, sir, in my opinion, you disgrace yourself and family, the court, and the profession by your course of conduct." "May I please your honor; I have been an attorney in this court for fifteen years; and permit me to say that this is the first correct opinion I ever knew you to give!"

A sick man was taken to a country hospital, but on looking round he insisted on being allowed to leave at once. "Why do you wish to leave?" asked one of the attendants. "Because," said he, "every man here has lost one leg, and some have lost both, and you ain't going to play that game on me—not if I know it."

"HALLO, stranger you appear to be travelling."

"Yes, I always travel when on a journey."

"I think I have seen you somewhere."

"Very likely, I have often been there."

"What might be your name?"

"It might be Sam Patch; but it isn't."

"Have you been long in these parts?"

"Never longer than at present—five feet nine."

MARRIAGES.

Married, In Baltimore, Md. on the 10th inst., by Rev. Dr. Szold, Mr. HERMAN WEIL, of Goldsboro', to Miss Fannie Katzentein, of Baltimore.

Married, In Goldsboro', N. C., on the 14th inst., by the Rev. Mr. A. J. Finlayson, Mr. WM. G. HOLLOWELL to Miss LINA BRYAN, all of this place.

Married, on Wednesday morning, at Morehead City, SAMUEL L. DILL, of Goldsboro' to Miss THOMAS, of Morehead City, sister of Judge Thomas.

ASK ME NOT TO DRINK.

Fair lady ask me not to drink
A toast to thee to-night;
For broken vows and blasted hopes.
Expose the demon's blight.

Put back the wine, I dare not taste—
Put back the sparkling bowl;
For who hath quaffed a draught so deep,

And reached a blissful goal?

Oh! ask me not, there lies within
A poison deep and dire;
And every drop but serves the more
To fan the latest fire.

Each draught will quench my sense of guilt.

And blast youth's budding hope;
Each drop will sink me deeper still
In moral nights to grope.

Oh! press me not to touch the cup,
Within are glaring eyes,
And starving widows, hungry babes,
And freezing orphan's cries.

Whom the gods they first make drunk,

Then ask me not to drink;

Oh, tempt me not, but spare my soul,
From death's eternal brink.

EXAMINATION PAPERS.

An amusing periodical, got up by the boys at Uppington school, gives a capital skit on the usual style of "examination papers" frequently presented for the torture of pupils. We select one or two examples:—

Supposing the river Ganges to be three cubits in breadth (which it isn't, what is the average height of the Alps, stock being 9½).

"If in autumn apples cost 4d. a pound in London, and potatoes a shilling a score in the spring, when will green gages be sold in Paris at 1½d. each, Spanish oranges being at a discount of five per cent?"

"If two men kill two brace of partridges in going up the right side of a rectangular turnip field, now many would be killed by five men and a terrier pup in going down the other side?"

"If a milkmaid, 4 feet 10 inches in height, while sitting on a three-legged stool, took four pints of milk out of every fifteen cows, what was the size of the field in which the animals grazed, and what was the girl's age?"

"If 30,000,000,000 of human beings have lived since the beginning of the world, how many may we safely say will die before the end of it?" N. B. This example to be worked out by simple subtraction, algebra, and the rule of three. Compare results.

"SAM, did you see Mr. Jenkins, the new overseer?"

"Yes, massa, I met him by the cotton-gin."

"He's a good looking fellow, isn't he?"

"Well, massa, he talks like a good looking man—he made a bow, dat's all he said."

THE RIDDLER.

Sounds my first thro' festive halls,
Din that unto dinner calls,
And you style it music.
Tho' my second, on the sea,
Sailor, rough and squally be,
'Twill not render you sick.
Come, my whole, and lead the way,
"Where the nibbling flocks do stray."

2.

Born of the clouds, yet speeding to my third,
My first is swift, two letters in a word.
My next, an action all will do that can.
Since have and hold is natural to man.
Within my third the shining pebbles
lie;
My whole's a city, standing high and dry.

3.

A country in South America.
A town in Maryland.
A country in Europe.
A city in Japan.
An equatorial region.
A country in Europe.
A river in Central Europe.

The initials spell the name of a people who are coming into our country; the finals, the name of a people who are going out of it.

ANSWERS TO LAST.

- 1.—Bean, regard (Beauregard).
- 2.—
- 3.—Work, man, ship (Workmanship).

CONUNDRUMS.

Why are sheep the most dissipated animals in creation? Because they gambol in their youth, spend most of their days on the turf; the best of them are blacklegs, and they are sure to be fleeced at last.

Why do little birds in their nest agree? Because if they did not they would fall out.

What is that which the rich man wants, the poor man, has, the miser spends, and the spendthrift saves?—Nothing.

When may a ship be said to be foolishly in love? When she is attached to a buoy. When madly in love? When she isanker after a heavy swell. When ambitiously in love? When she is making for a pier.

GOLDSBORO' COUNCIL, No. 42, F. OF T.—This noble institution, which has already accomplished great good in our midst, is in a most flourishing condition with bright and flattering prospects for the future. On every meeting night large and valuable accessions are made to the ranks of the gallant little band who are so successfully waging warfare against the mighty legions of the hell-born demon of intemperance. Within the last week thirty-three names have been enrolled among the champions of Temperance, in this very place, which has ever been considered a stronghold of the enemy. It appears almost incredible that so many should, within so short a time, enter their solemn protests against the liquor traffic, and boldly take their stand on the side of Temperance, but such is the joyful fact, as any member of the Council will testify.

The lovely ladies, God bless them, are now joining our ranks in numbers, and with their bright smiles to cheer us on to victory, we surely cannot fail.

We are requested to announce that no service will be held in the Episcopal Church on Sunday next, the Rev. Mr. Forbes, who was expected to officiate at that time, being unable to fill the appointment.

GOING TO WILSON.—We learn that our enterprising townsmen, Messrs. A. B. Palmer and Geo. D. Green, will open a hardware establishment in the town of Wilson, in a short while.—Goldsboro's loss,—Wilson's gain.

SOCIAL CLUB.—We are authorized to announce that a meeting of the Goldsboro' Social Club will be held at the Exchange Hotel, to-morrow (Saturday) evening, at 7½ o'clock. Business of importance will be brought before the meeting, and it is especially desired that all the members, who can possibly do so, will attend.

We have received from Mr. J. A. Jones, Bookseller and Publisher, Raleigh, N. C., several pieces of new music, and a copy of the North Carolina Almanac for 1870, for all of which we tender thanks. This Almanac is the first published for the coming year, is the largest ever published in the State, and is sold at the low price of 10 cents per single copies, or $5.00 per hundred. Mr. Jones has just received a very large stock of new music and would be pleased to fill any orders entrusted to him.

See advertisement of "The Georgia Paper Mill," to be found in this morning's issue.

THANKSGIVING DAY.—The President has set apart Thursday, November 18th, as a day of National Thanksgiving.

An exchange says "it is impossible for a woman to get married in Russia unless she furnishes an outfit in life, even to a dozen new shirts, for her coming husband." We want some shirts and a wife. What's the fare to Russia?

"It is worth one dollar a week in any family."—N. Y. Tribune

"In the laundry of my house there is a perpetual thanksgiving on Mondays for the invention."—Rev. Theodore L. Cuyler.

"Every week has given it a stronger hold upon the affections of the inmates of the laundry."—N. Y. Observer

"I heartily commend it to economists of time, money, and contentment."—Rev. Dr. Bellows.

"Friend Doty—Your last improvement of your Washing Machine is a complete success. I assure you our Machine, after a year's use, is thought more of to-day than ever, and would not be parted with under any circumstances."—Solon Robinson.

"Your Washing Machine has been in daily use in our laundry, and the housekeeper expresses herself as highly pleased with it. It certainly accomplishes a greater amount of work with less labor, and does not wear the clothes near so much as the old fashioned wash-board. By using it, one laundress is dispensed with."—Wm. M. F. Round, Superintendent of Infirmary Department of St. Catharine's Nursing Home, N. Y. City.

PRICES.—A Fair Offer.

Send the retail price, Washer $14, Extra Wringer $9, and we will forward either or both machines, free of freight, to places where no one is selling; and so sure are we they will be liked, that we agree to refund the money if any one wishes to return the machines free of freight, after a month's trial, according to directions.

No husband, father or brother should permit the drudgery of washing with the hands, fifty-two days in the year, when it can be done better, more expeditiously, with less labor, and no injury to the garments, by a Doty Clothes Washer, and a Universal Wringer.

Canvassers with exclusive right of sale make money fast selling them.

Sold by dealers generally, to whom liberal discounts are made.

AGRICULTURAL.

Fruit of all descriptions have yielded handsomely throughout the whole of the Northern States.

The wheat crops of Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, and California has decreased materially from the former averages.

Our Southern wheat surpasses any grown North this season, in appearance and good quality. So says the Agricultural Agent at Washington.

Beeves that are to be ripened off and marketed this Fall should be early in condition to sell, and held ready for shipment at the shortest notice.

Sorghum is a crop of great importance, especially with present facilities for working it up. It should be topped, cut up, stripped and stacked before frost, to be hauled to the mill and worked up before hard freezing weather.

Beans should be pulled as soon as the pods seem well matured. They will cure in a loft better than in the field, and a few may be cured on a barn floor. In the field stack them between stakes to keep off the ground, and thrash when dry.

Dig potatoes as soon as ripe, provided there is not much rot among them, in which case we judgment.—If they can be dug and sold before they rot much, well; if they can be fed with profit, do so. Do not put them into the cellar to become a mass of corruption, and make it necessary to overhall and throw them away by and by.

Buckwheat is greatly injured by even a light frost. Be prepared to cut and put in little cocks or gravels as soon as frost threatens. The tops should be gathered and bound at the top, more to prolong the drying and to prevent the wind scattering the grain than to make the little gravel shed rain. Many kernels, half formed when cut, will fill out at the expense of the juices of the kernel.

Grass may be sown alone at this session, or at any other.—Prepare the ground well, giving thorough harrowing and top dressing, picking off the stones; sow the seed, and roll. A bushel of oats harrowed in before the grass seed is sown, will afford the young plants the protection of a fine mulch during winter, and unless the season is very mild, will be thoroughly dead and out of the way when spring comes; making good manure.

A dairyman informs the Maine Farmer that having tried many things for sore teats on cows, he finds lard best, the most healing and softening.

The Scientific American recently published that a poultice of bread and vinegar, applied when going to bed, was a sure remedy for bunions and corns.

TEMPERANCE

DEPARTMENT.

"Trust in God, and do the Right."

[COMMUNICATED.]

GOLDSBORO', N. C., October 7th, 1869.

MR. EDITOR:—Being a visitor to your town—and generally keeping my eyes open—I have seen sad things transpiring in your midst.

I see daily—young men of promise, young men who but a short while since bid fair to become ornaments in society, and an honor to their town and State. I see them reeling to and fro in the embrace of that fell destroyer of the human race—Intemperance. I see countenances once expressive of the noblest manhood, now bleated and bloated, no expression save the silly leer of the devotee at the shrine of Bacchus; or, in plainer language, the drunkard.

'Tis a heart-rending scene. Oh, the agony of mothers, sisters, wives, aye, I will add fathers, brothers.—See them as they look upon the wreck of him who could, at one time, be called the noblest work of God! See them bowed down with shame and from the sneers and scorn of the rude world!

God pity the stricken hearted!!

I have no language sufficient to express my contempt for him who will stand behind counter, and deal the death dealing liquid to his fellow man; especially when he knows that the one cannot resist the demon, once they get a taste. I would take them and point out the broken hearts of our land, and tell them to look at their work! Man, is there no sense of shame left in you? God will surely hold you responsible for your works. You turn the human feeling heart into the residence of demons and devils. You hasten both soul and body to destruction, where you will soon follow to meet with your reward.

Let these of us who are engaged in the good and glorious cause of Temperance, battle on. God will smile on and prosper what is good. Our cause goes linked hand in hand with Religion. Let us awake from this stupor, and "be up and doing." With a just cause, brave hearts, the prayers of the christians, and God on our side, we must, we will, we shall conquer. Yours in F. T. and C., "JOE."

A MERITED COMPLIMENT.—At the State Council Friends of Temperance, held at Goldsboro' last week, Rev. Jno. N. Andrews was elected President for the ensuing year. Mr. Andrews is a member of Mt. Olivet Council of this city, which is represented to be in a flourishing condition; and, as he has been a faithful laborer in the Temperance cause, we consider it a well deserved compliment.—Star.
